Problems

Many people believe that community life is made up of a series of problems to be solved. And consciously or unconsciously, they are waiting for the day when all tensions, conflicts, and problems brought by marginal people and structures will be resolved and that there will be no more problems left. But most problems are not resolved. With time, and a certain insight and fidelity in listening, they clear up when we least expect them to. But there will always be others to take their place!
